Man and His Racing When most of us think of racing, we think of two things: The car and the driver. When you are a kid and you are a “car-guy,” you think of cars, the team, and the driver. And when you’re a “driver-guy,” you think of all those things too, but you also think of the mechanics, the owners, and the team. And then when you’re a “racing fan,” you think of the cars, the drivers, and the teams, but also sponsors, TV, internet, and the history of the sport. A whole lot goes into racing and a whole lot of people make racing possible. We all know that drivers are the reason that we will see cars on the track for years to come. And without the sponsors that promote racing, we wouldn't be able to afford the cars and the drivers, and there would be no racing. Last weekend, one of the few drivers who share the racing community's love of racing was active in three different racing series all within one week. One of them was an old man, and he has a good reason for his age. ROD-RACER. I have been a fan of racing for most of my life. When

Coatings for orthopedic use are required to have excellent wear resistance and high hardness. In the present study, a bilayer coating consisting of a plasma electrolytic oxidation (PEO) film and a pyrodacrylic resin film was made on a titanium substrate. The thickness of the PEO film was determined by Rutherford backscattering spectrometry

(RBS), and mechanical properties were measured using microtensile and indentation tests. The pyrodacrylic resin film was prepared by a solvent casting method using a poly(methyl methacrylate) (PMMA) solution. Contact angle measurement, X-ray photoelectron spectroscopy (XPS),
