Here are the key new features of FIFA 22, released for PlayStation 4 and Xbox One: Introducing "HyperMotion Technology," the latest technology to capture the most authentic and refined movements on the pitch. With a live video feed from wearable technology, a real-world player's every sprint, tackle, pass, cut-back and shot is captured in ultra-high definition, with a level of detail unseen in the real world. Created by Opta, this detailed data is then integrated into FIFA 22 to deliver motion and ball physics that gives every player a unique look and feel. Dynamically updated during a live match, the replays of players at the peak of their movements can be viewed in near-real time - with a multitude of new, modern camera views - while in-game highlights can be replayed for posterity. Impacting every aspect of the game, "HyperMotion Technology" has been the key focus of EA SPORTS FIFA development this year. Combining real-world data with the in-game creation of artificial intelligence, EA SPORTS FIFA developers have built a player model that is now deeper and more intelligent than ever before - adding a new level of realism and fluidity to every player on the pitch. FIFA 22 'HyperMotion Technology' in the Game "A player's authentic physicality must be as close as possible to their real-world performance, so that we can really feel every millisecond of a player's ball movement, sprint or tackle," commented David Rutter, Senior Producer on FIFA 22. "With 'HyperMotion Technology,' we are able to capture a player's every touch and movement during a match in ultra-high definition. From this data, the AI can then be created, using a realistic simulation of how a player moves. It allows for more accurate physical representation, making every player completely unique." Updated FIFA Ultimate Team The most modern Ultimate Team system on the market will be unleashed in FIFA 22. Players will have more chance of finding and acquiring authentic, rare and legendary players with more options in all aspects of the Ultimate Team including assembling a squad of players from around the world, customising a squad with the likes of real-life legends and creators of ultimate masterpieces, making deals in the FUT International Market, creating a squad from a set of cards, or even drafting your own Ultimate Team. More than just

Now in its 18th season, and one of the most popular and celebrated games of all time, FIFA follows real-world leagues and competitions around the globe, immersing players into a multitude of authentic environments. With FIFA 22, the app's physics engine has been retooled to make the ball feel more alive. Up to 32 players can face off on the pitch, with a flexible formation structure that unlocks different strategies for the way you want to play. The game supports up to 12 players offline in local splitscreen. The new season brings exciting new rule changes, new stadiums, and a new addition to the Franchise mode: The ability to coach your club from the top of the game to the top of world football. Creating new methods for players to earn their spot on a team has also been a major focus of the season, and developer, EA SPORTS, has introduced a brand new matchmaking system for FIFA 22, with three tiers of in-game matchmaking that will allow players to get into online action faster. FIFA Ultimate Team Combining authentic-feeling game play with an unparalleled roster of players, teams and stadiums, the UEFA Champions League Mode is now bigger and better than ever, with over 700 teams and 600+ players in Ultimate Team. In the Ultimate Team mode, every player comes with their very own unique and expansive set of attributes and skills, meaning every one of them can be adapted and customised to play any role. The modes have been completely reworked, with each bringing their own spin on the game play. The 'FUT Draft' allows you to customize the FUT team, adding your own players, formations, and head coaches to create your Ultimate Team. Selecting your team from several options, you can also buy packs of players with the extra currency you earn in-game, or by spending real-world money. In Franchise Mode, a new level cap was introduced, allowing for more customisation and differentiation between players across the board, ensuring you have the best FUT team for your clubs playing style and budget. While nearly 15 years old, FIFA Ultimate Team is still the ultimate way to build your dream team, giving you the opportunity to play as some of the greatest players that have ever played the game. Online Seasons Thanks to the game update, FIFA Online Seasons now includes leagues, tournaments, and prize pools bc9d6d6daa

New Features in FIFA 22 New Refereeing System FIFA 21 raised the bar for the refereeing in football games by giving you real-time control over decisions and letting you make big calls from anywhere in the stadium. Now, in FIFA 22, you're in control from the field with new in-game decisions, a reworked blind spot system, and more. New Player-Controlled Substitutes You can now bring your own players into battle with your own rules! Create the sub like a pro, assign it to a position, and start strategizing! Send your best player on to defend, send your ace striker on to attack, or send in a winger to win it all in the last minute. New Pass Movements System Your players can now split off and play unique pass moves to outwit and outsmart the opposition. With the new 'Tactical Demolition' move, you can pull off plays that you never thought possible—and change the course of a game. Faster Player Turn-Outs Turning your player out of defense faster is one of the big differences between FIFA 21 and FIFA 22. Now, when your
